What happens to your waste?

The waste is collected, bulked up & transported, ready for sorting.

The waste is disposed of by the customer.

The residual waste is then used as RDF across the UK & Europe.

The sortation process removes recyclables, leaving residue waste.

The residual waste is then used as RDF across the UK & Europe.

The process of RDF gives approx. 98% landfill diversion.

Q: What does RDF mean?
A: Refuse Derived Fuel

Compared to landfilling, the lower carbon emissions resulting from this approach to processing waste far outweigh the emissions associated with transporting the reclaimed fuel.

Q: How is the waste sorted?
A: Both by hand & machinery.
